C. S. Bookwalter, president of the Carbondale Coal Company, under indictment on the charge of having been accessory before the fact in the killing of Dermott Woodruff and Glover Hoard during "night rider" troubles, was granted $5,000 bond in the Circuit Court at Madisonville.

State Treasurer Tom Rhea of Kentucky, refuted Republican claims that the interest on State deposits under the Wilson administration was greater than during the Democratic regime by pointing out that the daily balances were not figured, which would give the Democratic figures $44,331 against $39,313, a reversal of the facts.

A government report for the period covering five years, credits Louisville with a gain of 13,084 and and Hopkinsville with 1,126. Ashland gains 995, Bowling Green 525, Covington 3,250, Frankfort 516, Henderson 620, Lexington 4,604, Newport 1,413, Owensboro 1,487, Paducah 1,746. Hopkinsville and Ashland are the only cities making as much as a ten per cent. increase. Hopkinsville increases 11.9 and Ashland 11.4 per cent. The government gives the present population of Hopkinsville as 10,545. Caran's directory a year ago gave it as 10,636. As a matter of fact the population now exceeds 11,000.

The October issue of the National Magazine will be found to be the most artistic and finely illustrated of all the many original and generously illustrated numbers sent out into the world during the last eighteen years. Especially beautiful are the sixteen page, three-color photo prints showing the most charming features of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, as seen by the magical radiance of the nightly illuminations, whose completeness, vividness and richness and variety of coloring have never been attained before since the creation of the world. A large number of photo pictures illustrate most of the National and special buildings and show devices of the great World's Fair, as well as the portraits of many gentlemen and ladies, whose interest and efficiency have made—Mr. Ortheris said—"The 'ole show pay'."

QUICK CHANGES OF LEVEL

Lake in Eastern Washington That
Causes Trouble to the Residents
Along Its Borders.

A subscriber who was interested in the Companion's account of a lake in Italy that rises and falls in a singular and unexplained way has sent us some equally strange facts about a lake in eastern Washington. The town of Kahlottus is built on the shores of the lake, and since it was once nearly submerged by one of the lake's sudden changes in level, a dike ten or twelve feet high has been built to protect the houses against another catastrophe.

The lake is normally a quarter of a mile wide and a mile and a half long, but at times the water falls so far that the lake is hardly 150 yards wide. The fall is always sudden, and so is the rise that eventually follows. Only one small stream enters the lake, and there is no visible outlet, but the water is always fresh. When the railway was built through Kahlottus the workmen tried to carry the tracks across the lake on an embankment, but the sand was swallowed up almost as fast as it was poured in. A ditch was then dug to carry off the water through a tunnel into a nearby canyon. Half way through the tunnel the water found a crevice and disappeared into the earth. Where it comes to the surface again no one knows.

Our correspondent adds that on a ranch near the town of Kahlottus there is a deep well, the water of which at intervals of about two weeks rushes up geyserlike to a height of several feet above the ground.—Youth's Companion.

WHY SHE ASKED

"How much are your brooms today, mister?"
"Brooms? Brooms? Why, lady, we don't sell brooms at this counter."
"Then what's that sign 'Sweeping Reductions' doing up there? I thought you were selling brooms cheaper than usual."

TROLLEY CAR STYLE.

"Conductor, I want to get off at Lafayette street."
"What street is that?"
"La-fa-yet-t-e."
"I called that street about ten blocks back."
"The deuce you did!"
"Yes, sir. I yelled 'La-fa-yet' as loud as I could."

THE CAUSES.

"What do you suppose causes the rise in breadstuffs?"
"Sometimes it is strikes, sometimes the failure of the wheat crop, sometimes speculation, and often it is just plain yeast."

DISINTERESTED.

Rankin—One half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives.
Phyle—And it never even wonders why!—Youngstown Telegram.

COULDN'T BE BETTER.

"I want to marry your daughter, sir."
"How are your prospects?"
"Very good, sir. She says she'll have me."

CAUTIOUS BABY.

Bocker—He is neutral.—New York Times.

FIGURATIVELY SPEAKING.

"Pop, what's a pessimist?"
"A man who's seasick during his entire voyage of life. Gwan to bed now, son."

EASY QUESTION.

"When the locks in the Panama canal won't work, what do they do?"
"Find a key to the situation."

She Was Smothering.

Rockford, Ala.—Mrs. M. C. Panchal, of this place, says: "I was taken with nervous prostration, and had headache, back-ache, pains in my right side, and smothering spells. I called in physicians to treat my case, but without relief. Finally, I tried Cardui, and it gave perfect satisfaction. I recommend it to every sick woman." Are you weak, tired, worn-out? Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women? Cardui has a record of over 50 in relieving such troubles, and will certainly benefit you. It prevents those frequent headaches, and keeps you up, out of bed, feeling happy. Try Cardui.—Advertisement.

What Are Children?

What are children? . . . Flowers! They are flowers of the invisible world; indestructible, self-perpetuating flowers, each with a multitude of angels and evil spirits underneath its leaves, toiling and wrestling for dominion over it. Blossoms! They are the blossoms of another world, whose fruitage is angels and archangels. Or dewdrops! They are dewdrops that have their source, not in the chambers of the earth, nor among the vapors of the sky, which the next breath of wind or the next flash of sunshine may dry up forever, but among the everlasting fountains and inexhaustible reservoirs of mercy and love.—John Neal.

ST. PETER THE FIRST POPE

Traditions of the Roman Catholic
Church So Record—Title Once
Given to All Bishops.

According to the tradition of the Roman Catholic church, St. Peter was the founder of the church and its first pope. Both the ecclesiastical and the temporal authority formerly exercised and still claimed by the popes of Rome are held to be of divine appointment, and to have been handed down in unbroken continuity from apostolic times to the present age. Peter the apostle, it is asserted was indicated by Christ himself as superior to the rest of the twelve in the faith and spiritual discernment, and as the one of the number whom it was his design to invest with special pre-eminence. In conformity with the design, Peter, accompanied by Paul, is said to have gone to Rome after Christ's death, and founded a church, over which he presided as its bishop for 25 years—from 41 A. D. to 67 A. D.—eventually suffering martyrdom in the same year and on the same day as St. Paul, in the persecution under Nero. The title "pope" was at one time given to all bishops. It was first adopted to Hyginus in 139 A. D., and in 606 Boniface III induced Phocas, emperor of the East, to confine it to the prelates of Rome. A list compiled from the registers of the Roman church gives names of 264 pontiffs.

TICKLED HIM

"Bronson looks very happy these days."

"He has reason to be. He says that after his wife and children had been fitted out with their fall wardrobes there was enough left over to enable him to have a new office coat made."

POSSIBLE EXPLANATION.

Aimee—I don't see why Hazel has so many admirers. She can't speak a word of French and neither sings nor paints.

Mary—Well, perhaps that's the reason.

TIME SAVING.

"I never waste time contradicting my wife," said Mr. Meekton.

"Are you always sure she is right?"

"I won't say that. But I am always sure she can convince me that she is."

DOMESTIC DIPLOMACY.

"Why do you insist on having the servant call you at seven o'clock every morning? You never get up at that hour."

"No. But I want to make sure the servant is awake."

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH.

"After all," remarked the moralizer, "life is but a journey."

"Yes, and a tiresome journey it is," rejoined the demoralizer, "for when a man reaches the end of it he's out of breath."

APPROPRIATE DECORATION.

"That old grouch certainly had his living room appropriately decorated."

"How was it done?"

"Mostly in fretwork."

CANDID ANALYSIS.

"Can you dance?"
"Yes," answered the self-deprecating man. "I ain't much for style, but I've got wonderful endurance."

ORNAMENT AND UTILITY.

"I have been asked to join the choir."

"I have been asked to sing in the choir."

ITS NAME.

"What shall I head this column of family dinner dishes?"
"Why not call it table talk?"
